REDS MAKE SPECTACULAR NEW GAINS ON CENTRAL FRONT

German Victory At Kharkov Offset By Drive On Smolensk

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Spectacular new gains on the central front, where the Red armies captured at least 47 towns and villages in their drive toward Smolensk, threatened to offset somewhat the German victory at Kharkov in the Ukraine today although the situation in the south remained extremely critical.

Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow, is the central pivot of the whole 1,200-mile front from Leningrad to Rostov. With the vital Smolensk bastion imperiled by the approach of four Russian columns—the nearest reported only 50 to 60 miles away—it appeared likely that the German high command would soon have to shift some of its reserves from the Kharkov battle zone to the north.

Frontline dispatches said the flat, snow-covered plains west of the upper Dnieper river, which the Russians had now reached, afforded the Red armies an opportunity for encircling movements against a series of German strong-points in the Smolensk area. Hitler's high command was silent on the big Soviet drive against Smolensk, but declared that the German armies to the south gained new ground.

Today's Soviet mid-day communiqué said violent battles continued to rage "in the area of the middle course of the northern Donets river," with massed German attackers suffering bloody losses.

On the Rostov front, the Red armies showed signs of continuing their offensive along the Sea of Azov toward Taganrog as Soviet heavy artillery pounded the Germans, while scouts penetrated to the rear of Nazi lines and blew up railway tracks.

Far to the north, Marshal Semenov's Timoshenko forces, battering toward the key German base at Staraya Russa were reported to have captured a junction south of Lake Ilmen after overcoming stiff resistance.

There was no official Soviet explanation for the evacuation of Kharkov but recent Russian communications and reports had stressed continued heavy German tank and infantry attacks with fresh reserves launched against the city.

West of Rostov, the Russians turned heavy artillery fire on the enemy while scouts penetrated to the rear of the German lines and blew up railway tracks. Big, long range guns were reported to be engaged in the duel in this area.

BULLETINS

Washington, March 16.—(P)—The house rivers and harbors committee approved today a bill by Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts authorizing construction of a ship canal across New Jersey.

New Delhi, India, March 16.—(P)—The British have maintained their positions unchanged through a day of fierce Japanese attacks and British counterattacks northwest of Rathedaung, 25 miles north of Akyab in Burma, a British communiqué said today.

Chicago, March 16.—(P)—Price Administrator Prentiss Brown believes there is little hope to reduce the cost of living but hopes to keep prices from rising more than one half of one percent a month.

London, March 16.—(P)—General Charles De Gaulle summoned his Fighting French National Committee to a special session today for quick consideration of General Henri Giroud's invitation to discuss details for the union of all French forces now opposing the Axis powers.

Harrisburg, March 16.—(P)—Creation of a state vice squad and empowering of courts to confine prostitutes for duration of the war were advanced today to control venereal disease in Pennsylvania.

Uniontown, March 16.—(P)—Reconvening after a week's recess, the Fayette county special grand jury indicted the three county commissioners a second time and Attorney W. Brown Higbee yesterday.

Washington, March 16.—(P)—AFL members of the War Labor Board called upon the board today to scrap its 1. per cent wage adjustment formula, adopt a new policy and guarantee decisions by majority rule within the board "without dictation" by any person or governmental agency.

Washington, March 16.—(P)—The senate finance committee voted today to raise the top rate of the estate tax from 5 to 6 per cent.

UNIFIED PLAN FOR DEFEAT OF AXIS SUBS

Complete Agreement Is Reached by High Commands on Methods to Be Pursued

COORDINATED ACTION

Washington, March 16.—(P)—Members of the American, British and Canadian high commands have reached "complete agreement," the navy announced today, on the best methods of defeating the Axis submarine menace in the Atlantic.

The decisions were made at a conference here under the chairmanship of Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, it was said in a communiqué issued simultaneously in London and Ottawa.

The meeting was described as one of a series "which have been and will continue to be held" to provide coordinated action by the forces of the three nations combating the undersea offensive against Allied supply lines to Britain, Russia and Africa.

(In London, Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons earlier today that the current campaign against the u-boats insured full Allied cooperation.)

There was no explanation from the navy as to why, since such meetings have been held for some time, there should be announcement of the recent session now, but speculation included the possibility that this might be both a means of reassuring the United Nations as to the coordination of the anti-submarine resources of the Atlantic powers, especially in view of the fact that there has been considerable agitation recently for the creation of a unified anti-submarine command under one officer.

TRANSPORTS BLASTED

BULLETIN
Washington, March 16.—(P)—The navy reported today that countless dive bombers have blasted Japanese positions at Vila and Munda in the central Solomon Islands.

Allied Headquarters in Australia, March 16.—(P)—Hard on the heels of the news that the Japanese were massing men and ships on their island bases northwest of Australia, Allied airmen lashed out suddenly in that area yesterday and blasted two troop-laden transports in a three-ship convoy bound for Dobo, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The threat implied in the new Japanese concentrations was driven home, meanwhile, by the greatest burst of enemy aerial activity in this theater in months—a 49-plane assault on Darwin, Australia, and a 15-plane raid on Oro Bay, New Guinea.

In the attack on the convoy off enemy-occupied Dobo, in the Aro Islands about 500 miles north of Darwin, direct hits were scored on two of the ships by Allied bombers which roared in at masthead height, and several near hits were scored on the third vessel, the Allied communiqué said.

Long-range fighters which accompanied the bombers raked the transports from stem to stern with cannon and machinegun fire, causing heavy casualties to troops packed on the decks, the bulletin added.

The Japanese smash at Darwin, key Allied base on the northwest tip of Australia, met stiff resistance from Spitfire fighters which rose to intercept them.

There was some speculation, meanwhile, over the whereabouts of the remains of the enemy convoy of eight ships which had been heavily attacked for two successive days straight as it approached Wewak, in northeastern New Guinea. Hits had been reported on four cargo ships and one destroyer, but B-17s which went out again in search of the convoy yesterday found no shipping whatever in that area.

By WES GALLAGHER
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 16.—(P)—The Americans lost their first major battle with the German army in central Tunisia fighting February 14-16 due to an error in intelligence combined with a faulty disposition of troops, the official version of the event indicated today.

An official spokesman in outlining the day-by-day development of the battle during which the Germans reached the outskirts of Thala, key to the northern Tunisian plateau, conceded that the American losses in material had been "very heavy."

"Our intelligence at the start of the battle was faulty in that we were convinced the Germans would make their main effort at Pichon, instead of farther south at Faid, as they did," the spokesman said.

"For this reason a strong American combat team was kept in the mountains northwest of Pichon ready to counter this thrust. At the time the battle started with Marshal Edwin Rommel's thrust out of Faid Pass on Sunday morning, February 14, the Americans had two mixed combat teams stationed at Hadjed el Aoun, north of Faid Pass, and at Sidi Bouzid to the south of the pass. There also was a mixed team of infantry and artillery and a small armored force at Gafsa, still farther south in the Chott Djeri area.

"The British reported that at least four and possibly five of the enemy raiders had been shot down, and the Germans acknowledged the loss of at least two.

Bounty Proposed for Horned Owls in State

Harrisburg, Mar. 16.—(P)—In case you are troubled with horned owls, take heart—the legislature is considering the problem.

Rep. Lewis Harris (D-Fulton) has introduced a bill requiring the state game commission to pay $4 bounty on each and every horned owl destroyed in the commonwealth.

Rebellious Frenchmen Defy Nazis

Police Led By German Troopers Deploy Into Hills for Insurgents

BOMBED BY PLANES

At the French Frontier in Switzerland, Mar. 16.—(P)—Motorized French police led by German SS troopers deployed into the hills of Haute Savoie close to Lake Geneva today in a hunt for several thousand well-armed French youths who had defied a Nazi ultimatum to surrender.

All last night and today the police and trooper units rolled along the roads into the valleys and up into the hills but they did not appear to have made contact with the insurgents who were said to number at least 5,000.

The youths, rebellious against the German labor draft, were reported led by former French officers.

(London reports said the French bands were being bombed by German planes. Three of the planes were reported yesterday to have been shot down.)

Some of the youths were gradually trickling back to their homes, despite their earlier defiance, because they lacked food and had been persuaded by their parents that resistance now is futile.

British circles saw in the insurrection a clear sign that France was ready to play a part in any invasion, but they said they hoped the resistance was organized well enough to hide the fugitives until the hour struck for a general uprising.

Corp. Barney Ross, marine hero of Guadalcanal, was able to sit up in bed, take food and read newspapers today at the U. S. Naval hospital in St. Albans, Queens.

Ross suffered a recurrence of malaria fever last night shortly before he was to appear at a Red Cross rally at Madison Square Garden. Today his temperature had dropped from 104 to 100 and was returning to normal.

Philadelphia, March 16.—(P)—John A. Phillips, president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO) was booed last night during a debate before the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) "Should Labor Unions Be Regulated."

Shouts followed his assertion that "only three hundredths of one per cent of man hours were lost by strikes in 1942."

Sam F. Hobbs, congressman from Alabama, opposed him in the debate.

Nazi Planes Strike Back

London, March 15.—(P)—Striking back after the RAF had bombed German airfields in France at dusk, Nazi planes attacked several localities in eastern England last night to raids which the Berlin radio said centered on Grimsby at the mouth of the Humber river.

About 20 German aircraft were said to have participated in the thrusts, but not more than half of these were believed to have actually crossed the British coast.

The British reported that at least four and possibly five of the enemy raiders had been shot down, and the Germans acknowledged the loss of at least two.

Authoritative sources said the German raids caused only light damage and no casualties.

The RAF foray last evening was aimed at the airfield at St. Brieu in Brittany and was carried out by a formation of Ventura bombers escorted by Spitfires, the air ministry said.

UNION TERMS DEBATED BY OPERATORS

Soft Coal Mine Owners In Executive Session To Discuss Lewis' Demands

WALKOUT THREATENED

New York, March 16.—(P)—Representatives of operators of northern Appalachian soft coal mines and the United Mine Workers of America went into executive session today to debate terms of a new contract.

The management-labor group conferred behind closed doors after John L. Lewis, UMW president, who said yesterday his 450,000 bituminous miners would not report for work unless terms could be agreed upon by the time the present contract expires on March 31, acceded to the operators' request for a private conference.

A major demand is Lewis' flat insistence upon a basic $2-a-day wage increase.

Lewis told the operators yesterday: "If they (the miners) don't get it (a contract by March 31) the responsibility will not be the mine workers', and if the contract runs out because you will not negotiate with them, the responsibility upon you will rely."

"It is a safe assumption that without a negotiated contract, the miners will not trespass upon your property on the first and second of April."

WAR WORKER HELD FOR WIFE'S DEATH

Philadelphia, March 16.—(P)—A 26-year-old war worker is held on a charge of homicide today in the death of his wife, 23.

The worker, Harry J. Sarrell, was quoted by police as saying that he and Mrs. Sarrell and two of their children, one four months old and the other 18 months, went to sleep in the same bed at 5 a. m. yesterday, and that when he awakened she was dead. Another child four years old was in a crib nearby.

Detectives said Mrs. Sarrell was bruised on the head and face. An autopsy was ordered for today.

City of Essen Is Put Under Martial Law

Stockholm, March 16.—(P)—The great German industrial city of Essen was put under martial law as a result of recent destructive assaults by the RAF on the Krupp Armament Works there and an official appeal has been made to the population to preserve order.

It was disclosed in copies of the newspaper Essener National Zeitung reaching here today.

"Now that it is important to remedy the most immediate needs of the roofless it is more necessary than ever to preserve order," the appeal said in an article taken as possibly indicating that disorders and plundering had occurred.

Essen has tens of thousands of foreign workers, hence the population was officially warned against spreading rumors.

The paper said so many Essen stores had been ruined that it was necessary to set up new ones immediately—"even if it is only a table" in the debris-littered street—so that the elementary needs of the population would be filled.

Essen, target of many RAF assaults since the war began, was believed to have received its heaviest pounding last Friday night, when a huge fleet of four-motored planes was estimated to have dropped more than 1,000 tons of high explosives in an effort to demolish the sprawling Krupp plant.

All-Out Fight On The Ruml Plan In Offing

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Washington, March 16.—(P)—Party lines were drawn up in the house of representatives today for a pay-as-you-go tax battle which may echo in 1944 political campaigns.

Republican leaders were lined up for and Democrats against the Ruml plan to skip an entire income tax year, with both sides predicting a finish fight on the floor.

Democratic leaders met and decided to support a tax collection system, without any abatement, as approved by the ways and means committee.

240 Volunteers Are Given Final Instructions In Red Cross War Fund Campaign

Marked by a seriousness of purpose never before surpassed or equaled, Warren county's campaign for $32,000 for the National War Fund of the American Red Cross opened this morning.

The determination to pass the goal of $32,000 was apparent in the faces of the 240 volunteers who gathered at the Y. W. C. A. last night to get their assignments. It was heightened as they heard various speakers tell of what the Red Cross is doing for boys in active service and it rose to a prophetic pitch as War Fund Director A. F. Kottcamp called upon Lt. Sherwood Miller, of the Army Air Corps, to stand and accept the tribute of the workers as a representative of the 2,000 or more boys from Warren now in active service.

After an invocation by Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, Byron W. Knapp, War Fund chairman, thanked the workers present for their enthusiasm and responsiveness. Mr. Knapp then read a telegram from C. J. Cray, chairman of the Warren County Chapter, in which Mr. Cray expressed his belief that the goal of $32,000 would be passed and a substantial over-subscription would be reached.

Mr. Knapp related how, in the month of February alone, the Warren County Chapter had contacted 100 boys in the service whose families had been unable to get in touch with them. He praised the spirit of the workers who are giving their time to the War Fund Campaign and recalled how many of them have made donations of their blood and how many have already given more than 400 hours service to volunteer work at Red Cross Headquarters.

He concluded his remarks by thanking the Times-Mirror for the excellent publicity given the war fund. He then introduced members of the executive committee and co-chairman of various team groups.

Lt. Sherwood Miller, upon being introduced, paid touching tribute to the Red Cross for its many activities among service men. He told how Red Cross representatives at various camps are empowered to arrange emergency leaves, how they keep in touch with the boys.

Death Takes Old Citizen of Community

James Klopp Simpson, one of Warren's oldest residents, passed away at the home of his son, Ralph Simpson, in Starbuck Monday night. His death was caused by ailments due to old age.

Mr. Simpson was born in Reading, oldest son of Wilson and Maria Simpson, August 29, 1851. He spent his early youth in the building construction business, then took up telegraphy and for over 30 years was in the employ of Western Union Telegraph Company in West Virginia, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other Pennsylvania cities, coming to Warren during the oil excitement in 1882 to take charge of the local office.

In 1897 he became manager of the Warren Electric Light and Gas Company, remaining in this capacity until 1907, when he took up his residence in Erie. Later he removed to Chicago, where he remained until the death of his wife, Octavia, in 1935. He then returned to Warren to make his home with his eldest son, Ralph B., with whom he resided until his death Monday evening.

Besides his son, Ralph, he leaves a younger son, Claude W., of Chicago; a brother, Ellsworth, of Topeka, Kans.; a granddaughter, Mrs. Cecil Henderson, of Warren, and one great-grandson.

During his earlier years in Warren Mr. Simpson was a member of the Methodist church. He was active in the Odd Fellows and other fraternal organizations.

Churchill's Son Defended

London, March 16.—(P)—Appearing in the house of commons to face the question firing line for the first time since his illness from pneumonia, Prime Minister Churchill today defended his son, Randolph, who had upheld the majority of French officials in North Africa as patriots and not Fascists.

Young Churchill, a captain in the British army in North Africa as well as a member of parliament, had written a letter to the Evening Standard which specifically praised Marcel Peyrou, governor general of Algeria, and by implication criticized Fighting French quarters in London.

Replying to a question of Aneurin Bevan, a consistent critic from the labor benches, Churchill said he had read the letter and was informed that it violated no part of the king's regulations concerning public comment by an army officer and that it was not passed upon by a senior army officer.

April Food Ration Points Will Be Same as In March

Washington, Mar. 16.—(P)—The housewife's total of food ration points for April will be the same as it is in March—48 of them on the blue stamps lettered D, E and F in war ration book No. 2.

In making that announcement yesterday, the Office of Price Administration also said there will be one week of overlap, during which both the March and April stamps will be good.

This month's stamps—the bluecurrent month.

VITAL RIDGE OCCUPIED BY BRITISH ARMY

Strong Enemy Patrols Of Armored Vehicles Are Routed In The Gafsa Area

SUPPLY LINES BOMBED

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 16.—(AP)—The British First Army in northern Tunisia, advancing in the Sedjenane area without meeting resistance, has occupied a strategic wooded ridge, and other Allied forces with artillery support have routed strong enemy patrols of armored vehicles in the Gafsa area, 200 miles to the south.

An Allied headquarters communiqué which announced these successes on the ground, also told of an outburst of new fury in the struggle for air supremacy in Tunisia.

The artillery action in the area of Gafsa was accompanied by two heavy raids on Mezzouna airdrome, 62 miles northeast of Gafsa, in which the entire airdrome and a number of parked planes were blanketed with bursting bombs.

Heavy bombers continued to blast at the Axis supply lines across the Sicilian Straits and in an attack on a convoy scored a direct hit on one ship.

The western desert air force, with activity confined to patrolling along the Mareth Line positions facing the British Eighth Army, also conducted sweeps among Axis transports north of Foujane.

British infantry, which previously had failed to clear out the German elite troops from the forested high ground four miles southeast of Tamera in the Sedjenane area, swept forward protecting the road to Sedjenane. Sedjenane is about 40 miles west of Bizerte and only about 12 miles south of the coast.

French forces with American guns turned back the patrols of enemy armor which were advancing between Gafsa and Meteloui, 20 miles to the west, where the French were consolidating recently won positions in that mining region.

The Mezzouna airdrome 50 miles southwest of Sfax was hit in two raids of less than five minutes. Twin-motored Marauders with Lightning and Spitfire escort first sprinkled fragmentation bombs from one end of the field to the other and among 12 single and twin-engine aircraft.

Twin-motored Mitchells with Warhawks as top cover followed immediately and reported hits from one end of the field to the other.

Simple Rites For Morgan

New York, March 16.—(P)—With dignity and simplicity, funeral services for J. P. Morgan were held this morning in St. George's Protestant Episcopal church in Stuyvesant Place, from which his father was buried in 1913.

The small church was crowded with 1,500 persons, including members of his family and friends representing the social, industrial and banking worlds.

The Rev. Rush R. Sloane, rector of St. John's church of Lattingtown, N. Y., where the funeral was a communicant, conducted the simple Anglican service. Following the rites, the body was to be cremated at Fresh Pond in New York City, and the ashes sent to Hartford, Conn., for interment where his wife was buried in 1925.

April Food Ration Points Will Be Same as In March

Washington, Mar. 16.—(P)—The housewife's total of food ration points for April will be the same as it is in March—48 of them on the blue stamps lettered D, E and F in war ration book No. 2.

ones lettered A, B and C—will be good until March 31, and the new series will be available for canned goods from March 25 through April 30, OPA said.

While urging consumers to budget their 48 ration points for April only where possible, OPA explained the overlapping week was to allow them to make "the best possible use" of whatever small denomination ration stamps they might have left at the end of the month.

Warren Boy Missing In North Africa

Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Esterbrook, 201 Pennsylvania avenue, have been notified by the War Department in a telegram received yesterday that their son, Technician Fifth Grade Theron A. Esterbrook has been reported as missing in action in North Africa area since February 21.

The telegram gives no details but states that if any additional information is received word will be immediately sent to the parents.

Young Esterbrook was 22 years of age and enlisted in the National Guard there in the Anti-Tank Division. He was sent to England where he spent some time in training and was moved to Africa in the huge armada which carried the Allied invasion force. Letters received from him last week, written February 12th, said he was enjoying the life in the army and that he expected it would all be over and that he would be home soon.

Rotary Lays Plans at Meet For Ladies Nite

Lunching and meeting at the YWCA activities building Monday afternoon, Rotary Club members completed plans for their annual Ladies' Night party on Friday at the Woman's Club, when Col. Carlos P. Romulo, former vice president of Rotary International, will be an honored guest.

Dinner will be served at six o'clock, after which the entire group will adjourn to the club auditorium for Col. Romulo's lecture to YMCA Forum members.

Heading the committee on arrangements is W. E. Yeager, assisted by John G. Rossman, Harold Tammann, H. L. Blair, R. L. Blodgett and O. C. Tritt.

Dinner reservations are to be made no later than Wednesday with Paul Braunschweiger, club secretary.

Guest speaker at yesterday's meeting was W. B. Nissley, of State College, who was presented by Mr. Tritt and gave a fine talk on victory gardening problems.

There will be no Rotary luncheon-meeting next Monday because of the Friday night party.

"I'm worried about Ma..."

This boy is a casualty.

A few days ago, he was a hardened fighting man — with a glint in his eye and a set to his mouth that boded ill for his Axis foes.

Tonight he's just a bewildered lad. Bad news from home has hit him — and put him out of action — as effectively as an enemy bullet. Desperately he has tried to solve a problem back home; his mother ill, lonely, helpless — and apparently nothing he can do about it.

Tortured by doubt and uncertainty, he's come to the Red Cross Field Director for help.

He'll get it.

It is the job of Red Cross Field Men to unravel human snarls. Across their desks, sometimes no better than battered crates, more than 1,500,000 men in the past year have poured their troubles — have asked for and received counsel and assistance. Daily and nightly, with our armed forces from Africa to India, from Iceland to New Guinea, they are keeping up the morale our fighting men must have.

Not only to the fighting men but to War's victims wherever they can be reached the Red Cross is carrying relief supplies, clothing, medicines. The cost is tremendous and ever-increasing.

The Second War Fund is greater than the First, but no greater than the increased needs.

Give more this year — give double if you can.

Hats Make the Most Of Every Spring Fashion

Millions haven't overlooked a single event on the crowded 1943 calendar. Hats will take you through slack and suit hours as impeccably as they adorn the cocktail lounge after five. If you're an active slacker, you'll revel in the new, away-berets of felt or belting, worn back, forward or sideways, rolled like bumpers or creased like Scottish teams. They come in all dimensions and in headline colors such as Geranium Red, Envy Green and Sea Aqua; also in white stitching and tassels in contrasting colors.

An added consolation for the anti-slacker male is a diminutive coolie cap of felt with a peaked crown and scooped brim. A wool felt braid encircles the crown and ends in two jaunty tassels at the side. Deep coils of hand-chochet-ed celtage, in vivid or pastel shades, can be mixed or matched with all your slack ensembles.

Walking days are here again. Smart, functional street hats will put swing in your stride and give a lift to your all-day suits. Among the most stimulating new day-time silhouettes are bonnets, which come in a record-making variety of styles. These include saucy-crowned models with irregular scooped brims, poke bonnets with brims that just forward in Directoire fashion and head-hugging cold bowl silhouettes. The beauty of the new bonnets is that they complement all hairdos, giving you an option on pompadours.

Another hat destined to go places is the homburg, in soft felt that seems modeled to your head, often combined with straw braid or belting. Add a touch of glamour to your basic outfit with a straight-on Gibson Girl sailor that parallels your "pomp." Some of these are crisply tailored in different-looking straws, including Mercury — which has a high sheen and smart new strawcloths with herringbone designs. Many have small, oval crowns (a significant style note this season). Dressier models, to accompany your suits to afternoon functions, are of lacy straw braid, rippled cellophane or "can can" straw, fluffy and feminine as its name, used in thickly ruffled brims around small, flat crowns.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

Points On Point Rationing

WRESTLING with point rationing and nutrition tables, American homemakers these days have a lot more sympathy for difficulties with multiplication and division that beset their young Johnnies and Mary Janes.

However, there are ways to rob point rationing of its terrors.

Anticipating the difficulties Mrs. Homemaker would encounter from the standpoint of menu planning and marketing when shopping with ration books, Miss Isabel Young, director of the home economics division of the American Can Company, has planned a program of practical suggestions and tested recipes to stretch canned foodstuffs, making one can pinch hit for two or three. Miss Young is making this information available to the homemaker who needs some help and suggestions.

This week she gives advice about ways to simplify meal planning. Next week she will give recipes for stretching rationed canned foods.

Here are some of her suggestions:

Make out your menus and the accompanying shopping list in accordance with the government nutrition table. Select an alternate for each rationed item on your list and write the number of points required for each, both the original and the alternate.

Use your canned foodstuffs as ingredients, stretching them to double the ordinary number of servings by combining with non-rationed foods.

Study the government nutrition table carefully when making out your menus, and use your rationed foodstuffs to fill in for raw foodstuffs which are not available.

Make every ticket in your ration book return the greatest amount of foodstuffs from the standpoint of nutrition.

Familiarize yourself with the contents in the cans before you buy them so that you know how much you are getting.

Work out different combinations for fruits and vegetables in combination of one raw item with a canned item as ways to stretch the rationed foods. For instance, canned tomatoes may be stretched by combining them with toasted bread crumbs and sliced onions in a casserole dish. A cheese sauce over string beans makes them go further, particularly if they are served on toast.

Peas and carrots may be combined with sliced potatoes to make a delicious vegetable casserole. Another way to stretch peas is to combine a can with an equal amount of cooked potato cubes.

Canned peaches, pears or apricots may be combined with cubes of oranges or grapefruit or both as a stretch.

(Next week Miss Young will give a group of tested recipes for stretching canned foodstuffs.)

New Trend Growing In Men's Wear

The biggest news item in men's fashion is the shift to utility clothing. This shift began in the middle of 1942 and has continued to date. Its direction is toward clothes that will give the greatest wear. The matter of style is secondary and "high fashion" items are definitely out for the duration. Symptomatic of this shift is the sharp trend upwards in "marriage" of basements and first floors in retail establishments throughout the country. In the old days workers' clothes and strictly utility clothes were shown in the basements of most men's wear establishments. Sports items and other high fashion sports gadgetry were invariably shown in departments of their own on the first floor.

But during the past several months men's sports clothes have been shown in their trills. Utility clothes have been in greater demand and so the inevitable "marriage" of the two has taken place! Both are now conveniently shown in the same department and utility is the dominant factor; with shopping time saved for the customer.

What has actually happened is that the sports clothes have borrowed from the work clothes and the result, for want of a better descriptive term, is currently described as Utility Clothes. All wool and wool blends constitute the chief feature of utility clothing which must be durable. Wool best meets wartime requirements and to the limit of the availability of wool for civilian use, it will continue to be one of the chief features of utility clothing during the spring.

WHERE ARE THEY?

Workers for the bond drive in the community are wondering what has become of the advertising posters that have been distributed about the city. In one block between the old post office building and Liberty street several scores of posters were distributed and with very few exceptions none are visible. The committee is wondering what became of the advertising matter.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

In the official bulletin issued by the War Department today several men from this section are listed as killed in action. Among them is Private Earl H. Riddle, son of Mrs. Amanda Riddle, Clarendon; Corp. Daniel J. Dougherty, son of Mrs. Anna Dougherty, Sigel; Sgt. Home G. Geuston, son of Robert Heuston, son of Robert Heuston, City and Pvt. Stanley W. Kowacki, son of Mrs. Sylvia Kowacki, Erie.

HAZARD FOR DRIVERS

Drivers for the Warren Back Company distributing bread over a large area report that deer are added hazard on the highways. The highways are rough, present and keep the driver busy at the wheel. Carl Anderson, driver on the truck which goes Ridgway each morning on Saturday sighted five deer along a road, one of which stood for some time in the middle of the highway watching the approaching truck.

HEARD BROTHER PLAY

Walter Scott, former linotype operator of the Morning Mirror now in England with the Field Squad, Canadian Engineers and with three other members of the squad has a small orchestra. They played over the radio, Sunday in a broadcast from England. By coincidence his sister, Mrs. L. S. Clymer, 3 New Co. 1943: Almost captured by Nazis while jeep-riding at Tunisia front

Genial Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the 52-year-old Texas-born Kansan running the war in Africa, has had a long and intense career preparing for his historic task. Tanks and planes are his fetish. A year ago Washington made him chief of the war plans division and he laid out the scheme of global war under which America is attacking across two oceans. Later he commanded 220,000 troops in the Louisiana maneuvers. Then General Marshall chose him to be the Pershing of World War II. His GHQ "over there" has two doors and nobody knocks. Making friends with his corn-belt grin, he eats in the common mess hall, lives in a small bungalow with several other officers and a scotty dog he terms "somebody to talk to who can't repeat what I say if I say anything."

ABOVE: This is a large-sized shoulder-bag of felt. It may be carried as a handbag by making a double handle of the strap.

BELOW: An attractive plastic bag that comes in three sizes and shapes. The drawstring bag of faillie is also made in embroidered straw.

Above are three good examples of the big, roomy handbags of non-priority material featured for spring. The one at top, in snakeskin, is seven inches deep and almost twice as long. The center bag is of patent leather, with frame and side panel of gabardine. It has a slide-fastener top. The summery bag at bottom is of wheat-colored linen, with wooden handle.

AN UNFAIR DECISION

Commenting upon the refusal of officials to increase gasoline allotments in this area, the Sharon Herald charges that "Petroleum Coordinator Ickes, already famous for his 'boners' in the handling of government issues, has given us another with his decision that petroleum-producing western Pennsylvania, including Mercer county, must continue on reduced gasoline rations."

The Sharon paper published in a city adjacent to the Pennsylvania-Ohio boundary line, prints the following scathing criticism of the decision:

"Sharonites and others in the county who daily see gasoline trucks hauling supplies westward to Ohio and other districts where larger rations are allowed fail to find justice or common sense in Mr. Ickes' ruling, despite his wordy statement defending his action."

"When he tells us that gasoline from Titusville, Oil City, Emlenton and other nearby towns is being sent eastward to the areas where real shortages of gasoline exist, we know he is telling only half the truth, for we have first-hand information that some of the abundant supply from our neighboring communities is going at least as far west as Ohio. Many Shenango Valley motorists are following the gasoline trucks across the state line and there are buying the four gallons per ration coupon to which they are entitled under the present inequitable setup which Mr. Ickes and his aides refuse to change."

"We had hoped for the sake of the Valley service station operators, many of whom are being forced out of business by the government's bungling, that the petroleum coordinator would follow the sensible lead of OPA Director Brown and recommend the removal of western Pennsylvania from the short-ration area. But we should have known better. Mr. Ickes doesn't do things that way. Undoubtedly local gasoline dealers will continue their fight for fair treatment and for their sake, as well as for the motorists who are being short-changed by inefficient bureaucracy, we still hope that enough pressure can be brought to bear to obtain a decision based on all the facts in the case."

"Possibly Senator Guffey, an oil man who has forgotten more about the situation in western Pennsylvania than Mr. Ickes ever knew, can increase his efforts to get a fair ruling. We are disappointed over his failure to get favorable action in recent weeks, but he has shown his interest in the issue and very likely will continue to use his influence in behalf of his constituents in this section of the state."

FACTS ABOUT LEGION

In connection with the announcement that the local Legion post and auxiliary tomorrow evening will observe the 24th anniversary of the founding of the organization it is interesting to note that it was 25 years ago March 15 the historic AEF caucus met in Paris for a two-day session in the now-raised old playhouse known as the Cirque de Paris. There the 1,000 delegates agreed on the framework of an organization of American World War I veterans and selected the name The American Legion. The organization of this new veterans' society was completed at another caucus held May 8-9, 1919, in St. Louis, Mo.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

JESSE J. KNAPP
Pastor of Clarendon and Tiona Methodist Churches

"Be instant in season, out of season." 2 Tim. 4:2. This good word of exhortation was given to an upright, stalwart young man who stood at the threshold of opportunity. The urgency of the conquest against evil forces was then, as now, of momentous consequence. Out from a fruitful, seasoned experience came this timely word of wise counsel. It is good advice for any of us today. Life is exacting; it demands alertness, stability, and faith.

The call to be equipped unto every good work points to the central figure in all of human history. Jesus was never confronted by a challenge for good, but that he proved himself more than adequate. About his Father's business, he was constantly building up a reserve of moral strength, holding high the standard of overcoming evil with good. Facing the Cross, he possessed that same beautiful poise that had characterized every other day of His life.

Following Him we become a part of that conquering, militant triumph. Constancy is most effective. It finds opportunity to do and to dare for God and His Kingdom. The season does not refer to time, but to us. Regardless of the season there is always duty for us to perform, a privilege to cherish, and a faith to keep.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God; but he that doeth evil hath not seen God.—1 John 1:11.

Evil and good are God's right hand and left.—Bailey.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Notes of an old Congressional Record: A colonel on swivel-chair duty in the War Department thinks interior decorating will win the war.

The colonel is in charge of a section employing about 600 clerks. Recently he decided that calendars, pictures and anything else on the walls interfered with the war effort. Out came an order, and down came the calendars. Then the mixture of steel and wood furniture in the same offices offended the eagle-totter's aesthetic sensibilities. Out came another order, demanding immediate rearrangement of office furniture in the section so only steel desks, cabinets, and oak mingled with walnut.

The clerks in this section spent considerable time a-huffing and a-puffing, mating steel with steel and vice versa.

There's a sequel. The switch came out eight steel desks shy of attaining perfect symmetry and balance according to the colonel's notions. Just charge it up to the horrors of war.

DON'T ever challenge the loyalty of the run-of-the-mine government employee.

These kids really get clipped for everything. Half a dozen surveys prove that the government gal just can't exist on a $1,440 annual salary in this town, where frontier prices are the rule. Yet thousands of them, to get along, manage to be smartly turned out and survive the paycheck whacks.

For retirement (5 per cent), war bonds (10 per cent), Victory tax, community chest and all the other fund drives which put the bite on federal workers first.

Yet despite a real struggle to get by, these gal-hatted an idea to contribute $1 apiece to buy a warplane to be named Government Girl.

CASHING a government paycheck is getting to be a real headache for government workers. Two recent Appeals Court decisions make the banks responsible for any forgeries, even when perpetrated by Federal employees. (One CCC paymaster issued paychecks to a non-existent camp and local banks had to dig up about $90,000 for checks and vouchers cashed in good faith.) Result is, banks just sniff at government paper unless the employee has an account, which most of them don't.

AGITATION for a streamlined war cabinet may be late. Usually well-informed dopesters say an unofficial war cabinet is already functioning.

This ace quintet of trouble-shooters reportedly includes three of the wisest old heads in Washington. Jimmy Byrnes, the Assistant President, Admiral William D. Leahy, the President's personal chief of staff and Bernard Baruch, production czar of World War I. The other two members are said to be Harry Hopkins and Judge Sam Rosenman of New York, two of the President's closest personal advisers.

No word has been received here from the Federal Reserve Bank relative to the date when the Warren banks will be opened.

Zero was registered on thermometers about the town this morning. The change in temperature came overnight and produced plenty of shivers this morning.

Troop 12 of the Lutheran church will soon have splendid meetings place. Quarters are being arranged in the Parish house and partitions are being taken out, a fireplace installed and when completed the rooms will be comfortable.

Edwin Kingsbury arrested in New York as the thief who robbed the Olmstead home at Ludlow has confessed to the robbery. The fellow has a long criminal record. He stated that he had entered the Olmstead house twice.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — There have been assurances lately from government spokesmen, including the President himself, regarding the continued freedom of the screen.

Even without a knowledge of what has gone before, it would take no great divining power to suspect that these assurances have been given in answer to a fear still felt, to some extent, in Hollywood—a fear of government encroachment.

There was quite a furore, a while back, when the Office of War Information through Lowell Mellett, chief of its motion picture division, requested that his local office be permitted to read scripts of all productions in advance of shooting. Hollywood got its usual censorship jitters, which subsided only when Mr. Mellett explained his reasons — among them, that Hollywood had volunteered its closest cooperation with the government in the war effort, that the OWI was in position to inform the producers concerning angles, even in non-war picture subjects, which could help or unintentionally injure the cause, and that this could be done most practically if the suggestions were made before production rather than after.

MR. MELLETT apparently convinced the producers, for they have now agreed to the request, reassured that it does not mean a grab for censorship power.

AND it could be worse than that. Given the wrong man, say a chap with creative leanings, for "nigger" and "coon" situations. That kind of would-be czar conceivably might not appreciate the difference between "suggesting" and "telling," and also conceivably might be hazy about the point at which his true function ended and officious meddling began.

The producer involved would squawk loud and long, naturally — and all Hollywood, fortunately, would squawk with him. It would, in fact, be Hollywood's duty to squawk.

well dressed all the time. She knows the importance of exercising to keep herself looking alive at her prettiest for "him" on his furlough. She knows that this is a walking war! We walk and carry out packages! And walking is one of the healthiest sports.

To walk in comfort, low heels for daily walking is Walk-Over's recommendation, and higher ones for "higher" times. Militaries of polished calf on broad-base heels are perfect partners for the Spring classic, a tweed suit, and officially correct with uniforms. A particular favorite with WAACS, WAVES and army wives is the sleek "Major," a twin sister to dual-life year.

McCLINTOCK UNIT

McClintock PTA held its regular meeting at the school building Monday evening and Miss Anderson's room won the attendance award. After the business meeting the program was given. Corrine Culbertson played two piano selections, "On the Ice at Sweet Briar" and "Ave Maria". Children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades sang a group of four songs under the direction of Miss Anderson: "The Pledge", "The Dinosaur Bus", "Sing When You Are Happy" and "O Month of May".

The new electric victrola recently purchased by the PTA for the school was used by Miss Dorothy Lincoln in demonstrating the introduction of program music to primary children.

A MESSAGE FROM ADMIRAL KING TO HIS MEN

One of the first things a Navy recruit learns is the principle of conservation. He learns to fold his clothing a certain way to protect it and increase its usefulness. He learns to care for and maintain the equipment that is issued to him. Throughout his naval career he is impressed with the fact that conservation is the watchword of the service.

I cannot urge you too strongly, officers and men alike, to carry this principle into your private lives by investing a portion of your earnings in War Savings Bonds.

They provide an excellent means of saving, of conserving a portion of current income for future needs, and at the same time they furnish an added opportunity to contribute even further to the winning of the war.

E. J. King

COUNSELING SAVING: The above message from Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander-in-Chief, U. S. Fleet, advising the men of the Navy to "invest a portion of your earnings in War Savings Bonds," emphasizes the importance of War Bonds as investments for the future. In less than a year and one-half, Navy personnel has purchased over $70,000,000 worth of bonds. Other Americans, looking for a way to save as well as to serve, can well follow the example set by these men who are risking their lives for their country!

Obituary

FRANK HENRY MARLETT

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon for Frank Henry Marlett, 19 Canton street, who died Monday morning in the Warren General Hospital, where he had been a patient since February 24 when he was injured in an automobile accident.

Removal was made to the family home today and friends may call there until noon on Wednesday, when the body will be taken to the Peterson Funeral Home. Rev. W. G. Woodward, pastor of the United Brethren church, will conduct services at 2:30 p. m., with interment in Pine Grove cemetery at Russell.

Besides survivors listed yesterday in the account of his death, Mr. Marlett leaves his wife, Electa Mason Marlett.

MRS. GERALD STANTON

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon for Blanche Oliphant Stanton, wife of Gerald Stanton, of Russell, who passed away in the Jamestown General Hospital. The rites were held at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. D. O. May, of Russell, and followed by interment in Pine Grove cemetery at that place. Those who acted as bearers were Leonard Schultz, Harold Olson, John Ronald, Kenneth and William Stanton. During the service, Mrs. Edward Miller, of Akeley, sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere".

Attending from away were Mrs. Oliphant, John Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Oliphant and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, Clintonville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spindler, Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schultz, Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stanton, Frewsburg, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. William Stevenson, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Lena Ruland and son, Perry, Chancellers Valley; also many friends from Russell, Lander and nearby points.

AARON MAGNUSON

Sheffield, March 16—Funeral services in memory of Aaron Magnuson were held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, Rev. Carl Gronquist officiating. Interment was made in the local cemetery with Francis Fitzgerald, James McGuire, Claire Fitzgerald, David Caldwell, Carl Anderson and Archie Brown, employees of the Pennsylvania Gas Company, serving as bearers. The many who came from out of town were from Portageville, Buffalo and Jamestown, N. Y.; Warren, Titusville and Erie.

Mr. Magnuson, who had worked for the utility company for many years, is survived by his wife; two sons, George and Maynard; four daughters, Mae, Madeline and Martha Magnuson, Mrs. Mildred Weller; also four grandchildren.

GEORGE KILBURN

Funeral services were held in Salamanca, N. Y., Saturday afternoon for George Kilburn, 78, of Red House, N. Y., who died at the home of his son, Lawrence J. Kilburn, in Meadville. He had been visiting there for the past two

This is where all the NEW Telephones
are going!

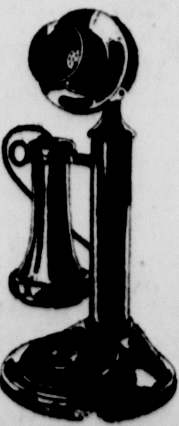

There is a serious shortage of telephones. Manufacture of new instruments, except special telephones for combat use, has been stopped—to conserve metals urgently needed for America's tanks, planes, ships and shells.

Fortunately, we still have a supply of desk stand telephones. They have been reconditioned and they will give good service. Because of the shortage of handsets, this type of instrument will be used on more and more new installations.

While we know that most people would rather have the more modern handset, we feel sure everyone will agree that the kind of equipment we put on the battle lines is more important than the kind we get here at home. And the factories that formerly made peace-time telephones are now working day and night to give our armed forces the finest war-communication equipment in the world!

Mr. Kilburn, who worked for many years in the Warren Axe and Tool plant, leaves two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Gillette, of Titusville, and Mrs. Paul Hungerford, Andover, N. Y.; two sons, Harry, of Red House, and Lawrence, of Meadville; also a sister, Mrs. Ida Roth, in Salamanca.

ANDREW V. LOFGREN

Largely attended funeral services of Andrew Victor Lofgren were held at the family home in Grand Valley at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. Edwin S. Carlson, of Titusville, officiating. Interment was made in the Maultby cemetery with the following as bearers: Paul Morris, Arthur Selander, Roy Carlson, Walter Sandeen, Edwin Bloom and C. Wayne Beal.

There were many in attendance from Jamestown, Cleveland, Warren, Russell, Erie, Edinboro, North East and Titusville.

Suits Take First Place In Styledom

Swinging into the second year of war, smart women very definitely favor suits for all daytime occasions, but suits with a difference—feminine and colorful. This is a natural development as nothing is so versatile as a suit, tailored when you want it so and softer when you add frilled blouses, dressy hat of nosegay.

There's a style serviceability about suits that stamps them as right and proper almost around the clock—particularly in these busy days when time speeds so swiftly, and from nine a. m. to dinner-after-dark is no lapse at all.

As to styles in suits: on the whole, dressmaker types are preferred—gently bloused jackets, easier body liner, a little fullness at the bust. Novelty seaming and pocket details are distinctive touches. Many twills and crepes are fashioned along these soft lines which are very flattering to the figure.

Even the classic, one-button tuxedo in men's wear worsteds has a soft effect. Now is the one-button jacket with rounded front and longer back. A small shawl collar gives a becoming line. Clusters of slot seams are finished with arrowheads over each shoulder. Over and over we see arrowheads used to finish pockets, on skirts with inverted pleats, to joint up seams. They seem to give a custom-tailored look. Another recurring note is the rounded notched lapel, which probably kicks back to Mainbocher's styling of the "Waves" uniforms. It is a distinctive style feature that is softening and feminine.

Potatoes whose growth has been stimulated by ethylene gas have been found to contain increased percentages of Vitamin C.

The charge for a full day's care at British government nurseries is 25 cents per child; for the poor the service is free.

Motherhood Is Now In Style

With America's baby rate a record-breaker, maternity fashions take their rightful place in the spring forecast calendar.

"Breathing room" is easily acquired by deftly placed, non-prioritized, plastic hooks and eyes, buttonholes in series which allow inches of adjustability; many of these dresses can be adapted to normal living after "The Event."

Clarendon Churches Have Day of Prayer

World Day of Prayer was observed in Clarendon with a union meeting of the Evangelical and Methodist congregations in the latter's church. The meeting was well attended and the following were named to serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. Marie Crocker; vice president, Mrs. Earl Smith; secretary, Mrs. Grace Dyk; treasurer, Mrs. Zada Walchli.

The program in charge of the president, Mrs. Evelyn Meley, consisted of inspirational prayer, hymns and readings. A special feature was a vocal duet by Mrs. Helen Bimber and Mrs. Clara Nielsen, accompanied by Miss Joyce Barnes. Special reading parts were assigned to Mrs. Edna Reed, Mrs. Nellie Meddock, Mrs. Elizabeth Seavy and Mrs. Maude Hyer.

YW Board Members Hear Reports; Make Plans For Activities

Mrs. Carl Lundahl conducted the monthly meeting of the YWCA board of directors Monday evening and Mrs. J. A. Davidson opened the session with an inspirational talk on the necessity of being truly representative Christian leaders in a time such as this.

Plans were discussed for the annual Lenten tea and it was decided to have a sacrifice Lenten service on Sunday, April 11, with Mrs. Lundahl as chairman. The board will serve refreshments for the YWCA Selective Service party on Thursday evening of this week and the following were asked to serve with the general secretary, Mrs. J. H. West: Mrs. J. P. Rogers, Mrs. Grover Lind and Mrs. Harold Smith.

Girl Reserve reports showed the program for younger girls included many educational trips in the past month; also the making of scrap books for the USO. It was stated the Mothers' Club is sponsoring a rummage sale March 25-26 and that 35 High School Girls' Club members will be awarded rings at the close of the club year.

Mrs. Harold Smith reported for the education committee that instructors will be engaged for if there is sufficient demand and that those interested in making of hats will want to know about a class taught by Mrs. Berger.

Mrs. H. B. Pettit reported progress in redecorating of the cafeteria. A statistical report was to the effect that nine girls found employment through the YW and that attendance at the building for the month had been 1,500, with 391 in the Girl Reserve department. The nationwide banquet for business girls was pronounced a success.

Contributions resulting from magazine subscriptions were shown to have reached $26.25, to be used for war fund work, with an additional gift of $5 from a friend. Announcement was made of a need for magazines for the reading rooms of the association and board members and friends were requested to bring their magazines when they had finished reading them.

Washington Wedding Of Miss Jean Yang Interests Many Here

Friends of Jean Yang and her brothers, Raymond and Tien Wei, will read with much interest the following excerpts from the Washington, D. C., Evening Star concerning her wedding:

Miss Jean Yang, niece of Mme. Chu Shih-ming, wife of the military attaché of the Chinese Embassy, and Frank Leung, married natives of China, were married yesterday afternoon in the Chevy Chase Presbyterian church. For the ceremony the bride and her only attendant, Miss Edith Leung, sister of the bridegroom, wore the wedding costumes of their native land. She was given in marriage by Gen. Chu Shih-ming.

Raymond Yang, brother of the bride, was best man and the usher was William J. Shaw, of Stamford, Conn., and Ensign Francis E. Meloy, Jr., of Chevy Chase. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Gen. and Mme. Chu Shih-ming, at which the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Leung, Mrs. W. R. Bairstow, of Warren, Pa., and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Y. C. Tom, of New York, assisted in receiving the guests. Among these were several of the bride's classmates at Vassar, from which she was graduated in 1941.

Following a short wedding trip, the Leungs are at home at 3130 Wisconsin avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. The bride has spent much of her vacation time in Warren, where she and her brothers have been guests of Dr. Bairstow and family.

Dorothy B. Newell Re-elected Chairman Of Service Section

Miss Dorothy B. Newell was re-elected chairman of the Community Service Department for next year when members held their annual business session in the Woman's Club Monday afternoon.

Others selected were Mrs. D. E. Conaway, vice chairman, and Mrs. Robert Mackay, secretary. On the nominating committee were Mrs. F. L. Plummer, chairman; Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. W. C. Sigworth.

The guest speaker was W. B. Nissley, vegetable gardening expert of Pennsylvania State College, who was presented by O. C. Tritt, county farm agent. His talk on gardening problems of 1943 proved most helpful.

Mrs. M. A. Connelly, club president, announced the meeting of Dramatic Section for next Monday, with Mrs. H. W. Conarro in charge.

To conclude, tea was served at a pretty table presided over by Mrs. Hagenlocher.

Critic In Fairbault Writes Glowingly Of Recent Recital

Mention was made in these columns recently of the very successful concert given at Saint Mary's Hall in Fairbault, Minn., by Miss Jean Robertson, Warren pianist, and Miss Julia Mahoney, New York soprano. Mrs. H. W. Rowse, writing in the Fairbault Daily News, says of the event:

"As far as my personal reactions are concerned, Miss Mahoney so many years ago, when I first affects me as Galli-Curci did years, heard her in a song recital. As for Miss Jean Robertson, I am in the same state of exaltation (or inebriation) that I was the first time I listened to Myra Hess."

"The program in itself was a work of art, and one that could only have been built by artists like those we had the privilege of hearing last evening. Except for a few concessions to popular taste, we were shown a world entirely denied to those of us whom circumstances have not granted access to the world where artists sing and play, not to sell Crispie Toasties or Golden Gums over the radio, but for each other."

Obituary

MRS. ANNE G. FALCONER
Mrs. Anne G. Falconer, 204 Pennsylvania avenue east, eldest daughter of the late Catherine and Lawrence Gleason, and widow of Frank Eddy Falconer, passed away at the Warren General hospital this morning at two o'clock.

Mrs. Falconer was a life-long resident of Warren and until recently had been very active in the business world. Although not in the best of health for quite some time her condition did not become critical until early Monday morning.

She was a member of the Holy Redeemer church and the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association.

Mrs. Falconer is survived by a daughter, Catherine Falconer Munson, grandson Robert Falconer Munson, two sisters Mrs. A. T. Slatry, Warren, Mrs. G. A. Sheehan, Great Neck, Long Island, and several nephews and nieces.

Services will be held at the Holy Redeemer church Friday at nine o'clock. Friends may call at the L. D. Gibson funeral home where the recitation of the parish rosary will be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

J. ALBERT GUSTAFSON

J. Albert Gustafson, who has been confined to his bed for the past five weeks, passed away at the family home, 202 Church street, Sheffield, at 12:20 a. m. today. He was born November 1, 1859 in Fraxted, Sweden, emigrating to this country nearly 51 years ago and coming directly to Sheffield. He had been employed for many years as a tannery worker in that community. He had been active in Bethany Lutheran church, serving it for years as a member of the board of deacons. He was also affiliated with the S. F. of A. Lodge.

Besides his wife, he leaves the following children: O. L. Gust and Herbert Gustafson and Mrs. M. A. Suter, Sheffield; Gilbert Gustafson, Cleveland, O.; also nine grandchildren. He was preceded in death by two sons and a daughter, Sigurd and Alfred Gustafson and Mrs. B. P. Carlson.

Funeral services will be held from the family home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, in charge of Rev. Carl Gronquist and followed by interment in Sheffield cemetery.

GRACE JAYCOX

Sheffield, March 16—The funeral of Grace Jaycox was held at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Allen, Pickering street, conducted by Rev. Ivan Russell, of the Methodist church. Interment was made in Sheffield cemetery with the following as bearers: G. H. Rickert, Paul Montgomery, Paul Miller, Kane; L. O. Eisenhauer, Bruce Smith and Harold Elmquist.

Attending the rites from out of town were Miss Carrie Jaycox, Miss Margaret Wood, Buffalo, N. Y.; Hugh Allen, Philadelphia; also friends from Warren and Kane.

Blomquists And Rock Cleaners Cop Thrillers At YMCA

Furnitures Gun Fast Near Finish To Win; Rocks Topple Bakery

When it looked as though every team in town would fall victim to the onrushing Blomquist Furnitures and usually get drubbed, only a faithful few continued to pull for the other teams. They're still unbeaten. But last night on the "Y" gym, the Struthers-Wells quint nearly took over the bucket for their own—at least for the evening and strung up points enough in that first half to start to look like number 1 team, but that fatal third session caught up with them again, and they lost after a fast finish at 34-27.

Jimmy Eaton and Dick Finley, plus some of this world shots by Joltin' Joe Lytle cast the spell of victory all over the Gym last night and came out with all appearances of coping the toga when the half-time score read 20-15.

They outplayed them in every phase until that third killing session that always catches up with the local E's and they went into a tail-spin coming out at 26-22 for the period and Jimmy Urbanski started to find the center for enough pointers to run them down.

The fourth found the Struthers quint climbing the ladder of success again but too late and they stuck up the final count at 34-27, once more proving the Blomquist's Furnitures ability to go in the final sessions.

The second game almost took the Rock Cleaners through the mill when Butter-Krusts kept up with the mythical second place team all the way through and in the final period nearly overcame their slim lead to cop as the Cleaners came out with one for the win bag at 38-35.

Chuck McLean was the big gun for the fast traveling Rocks and Marty Carlson, both former teammates fought out the points for each team with accurate fielders from all over. Scallise of the Rocks followed Charley with 12 points and every one was needed as the score shows; the score at half-time was 19-18, favor of the Bakery quint.

The Rocks had to ride hard in the second half and finally showed they could, after losing too many in the final minutes heretofore. They scored two points more than the Krusts in that period to take over a one-point lead at 26-27.

"Sheriff" Ferdine's board work and Chuck McLean's shooting clinaxed the contest late in the last heated session as they again outscored the Krusts at 10-8 and came out of the tough tussle at 38-35—winners.

Covering the Sports Front

—WITH—"BOB" JOHNSON

A sudden gust of warm spring air, windows down on "E" and "C" card cars and suddenly an awakening occurs among out-of-door sports agitators.

The golfer looks longingly out the window of his office or turns from his machine four or five times to gaze at the hills and valleys—wondering whether the ground would be hard enough yet to snack out a few.

Maybe a trout fisherman gets that sudden "bug" that only he can feel but can't explain—He gets the bamboo rod out—tests it and trels right over town for a stocking-program on his equipment.

But, there's a feeling that reigns in the kingdom of baseball which fewer than any of these actually can call inside them.

It perks up the old-timers as they read of spring training—maybe of a club they used to be with—They keep tabs on all occurrences which even hints of baseball—Their creaky bones seem to give more and another year of the nation's pastime sets in.

True, for small towns such as our own, baseball's liable to be out for the duration—But there is hope—and as most of you know—You can do a lot with "hope."

Now, while you old-timers—Yes, and the youngsters of the community, get out there and try the arm out with a few tosses back and forth gradually adding on to the number of throws until you're arm feels strong enough—Take time out between now and April 1st and drop a penny post card to the sports desk of this paper expressing your wishes and "hopes" that you would like to indulge in this king of them all this summer.

That's the least and best both sides of the issue can do—maybe we can't raise enough players—That's what we'd like to know—Maybe we can't get enough balls to last a year—We'd like to know that too. But let's give it a try—Send it in now—We might be printing the rosters of about four teams by April 1st—So get to work on it and your dreams of baseball for '43 might not be wasted.

Looks like the Blomquist Furnitures are heading for championship of the "Y" in both leagues—Saturday and Sunday—Only the Sheffield O'Connors can tie the min Saturday's loop and only the Rocks or Struthers can turn the trick on the Monday set—An all-star team would be a trick to pick in either league—You'd have to include nearly every member of the Bloms.

Bradford's high flyin' Owls are heading for trouble when they tangle with the Farrell Night Raiders tonight—But if they get past them—We might have a state championship right in our own back yard—Dick Check, probably one of the hardest of the town's bowlers slipped out of first slot in the singles event for one week and then showed the "stuff" he's got by sticking in there and is now leading the field again with an average of close to the 190—Next Sunday finishes off the tourney and will be a breathless day for fans attending the "kill"—Myron Check, Dr. Giunta, Pete Juliano or Frank Russell can climb into shooting distance very easily, but the defending champ, Dick is ridin' the field and this corner looks for him to stay there—What, no snow—Are you ready Willy?

ANDERSON'S FIVE OUT FOR THIRD IN ROW

Philadelphia, Mar. 16—(P)—Bill Anderson's Lower Merion high school stars resume their drive for their third straight PIAA basketball title tonight, tackling Chester in Penn's palestra in a game for the District 1 title.

The encounter is one of six scheduled in the PIAA eliminations. Lower Merion, perennial district 1 leader, is heavily favored.

Milton, surprise victor over Shamokin, will line up against Sayre at Williamsport for the district 4 crown. The other games on the list are inter-district.

Hazleton, District 11 winner, and Gettysburg, District 3, play at Allentown; Berwick, District 2, and Clark Summit, District 12, at Bloomsburg; Johnstown, District 6, and Conemaugh township, District 5, at Johnstown; and Bradford, District 9, and Farrell, District 10, at Sharon.

Only two teams now holding district titles will not play tonight. Scott Hugh of North Braddock, District 7 champion, and Westinghouse of Pittsburgh, District 8 titlist, have byes in the opening inter-district round. The District 1 and 4 champions also will have first-round byes.

SIDE GLANCES . . . . . By Galbraith

"Since you quit serving meals out of cans, I'm reminded of our early married days—I'm finding out all over again what a good cook you are!"

Plan Victory Crops to Give All Season Yield

Smart planning for the vegetable garden requires attention to the question of continuous harvest. Take radishes. The early ones are edible for about one week, then turn pithy. Suppose you want a six weeks' supply. You must make six sowings, each sufficient for one week's needs. If you sowed six weeks' supply all at once, then you would have for one week enough radishes to last for six weeks, and would you be sick of radishes!

There are only certain crops that require this succession sowing. The table which accompanies this discussion gives them, and for each it states the period during which the harvest from one sowing will remain in good condition.

You will note that carrots, beets and beans are on the list. These three items will, in fact, give a harvest all season long, if they must; provided the beans are kept picked clean and not allowed to make seed. The carrots grow big, and so do the beets; and they are still sweet, tender and nutritious even in the fall, when they are likely to be enormous. Still, they are better when they are younger, so several plantings are usually advised.

Beans bear better when they are young; but it is surprising how well they continue to bear all season, if they keep healthy, and are picked clean. The best plan is, never to let beans get in the pods. Use the pods when the beans are at the tenderest stage. That is the time to put them into cans, also.

You can get a continuing harvest of some vegetables by sowing at the same time varieties which mature early and late. Then one harvest will follow the other. This should usually be done with tomatoes. It can also be done with sweet corn, and peas.

These Vegetables Have Short Harvests

Now only what you will eat while harvest lasts, then follow with another sowing, to keep the supply continuous.

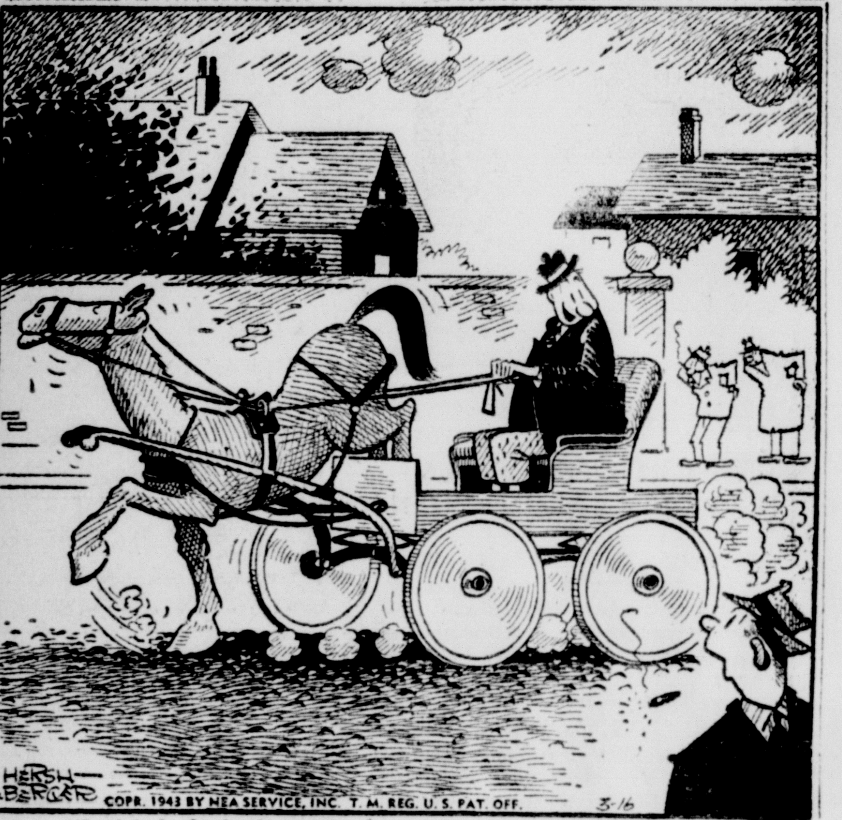

Crop	Harvest Lasts
Beans	4 weeks
Beets	6 weeks
Cucumbers	8 weeks
Endive	6 weeks
Lettuce	6 weeks
Kohlrabi	3 weeks
Turnips	2 weeks
Spinach	2 weeks
Sweet Corn	10 days
Onion Sets	4 weeks
Peas	2 weeks
Radish, early	1 week
Radish, midseason	2 weeks
Radish, winter	6 weeks

And remember that when you make successive sowings in the spring, your second sowing will mature faster than the first, because of warmer weather, so allow for this. And when your successive sowings are made in the summer, allow more time to maturity because of the probable hot, dry weather of that season which is likely to slow up growth.

With these allowances, the time between two sowings of a crop should be about the same as the period of good harvest. And your sowing should be sufficient to supply your needs for that period, so that there will be no wasteful overproduction.

Take time to study the accompanying table, and work out your sowing schedule in harmony with your production program. It is a few hours' study of this problem now will save. When planting time comes, you are going to have to use your muscles, and it will not be easy then to do the necessary staff work. A well-planned campaign is half won before the battle starts.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"I think he's heard about power conservation!"

Isolation Island

By JOHN C. FLEMING and LOIS EBY

Chapter 11

THE sky to the east was awash with a thin milky light as Landa and Jim came down the path from the hacienda and walked toward the beach.

The path threaded upward for a few paces to a knoll and then fell off abruptly to the white beach. Before them spread the Pacific. In the hazy background rose the brown cliffs of the mainland. The Sea Bat was riding quietly at anchor halfway across the channel.

"Looks like you won't need your sea legs this morning, sailor," Jim laughed as he pushed the dinghy toward the water's edge. "It's calm as a millpond."

"And if it weren't I suppose you think because I'm a girl I'd turn stony and make you bring me back about the middle of the morning?" Landa smiled back at him.

"I was just thinking that after all that delicious breakfast Maria fixed for us even a good sailor might have regrets if the sea were very rough."

"Speak for yourself, Mr. Blair. I've never been seasick in my life. That's why Uncle Mike used to call me Neptune's Daughter."

"Well, Miss Neptune, how's to nup in there and man the oars while I push this battlegown through the surf?"

WHEN the dinghy bumped gently against the side of the Sea Bat, Cass Wilson, one of Jim's divers, was already uncoiling a rope ladder and lowering it over the side. Jim sent Landa up the ladder first and quickly followed.

"This is Miss Morrison, Cass Wilson," Jim said when the three of them stood on the deck.

The young blond man showed an even row of teeth as he acknowledged the introduction.

"You sure you brought the boat exactly to the position we charted out last night?" Jim asked him.

"You can check it, boss," Cass said cheerily. "And Jack's down now."

Jim led Landa across the white scrubbed deck to a small dark man wearing a set of headphones pressed to his ears and keeping a watchful eye on the thumping air compressor. "Here we have none other than Fuzzy Fields, the guy who holds our lives in the palm of his hand."

The dark man nodded briefly, never taking his eyes from the steady stream of bubbles that were breaking on the surface of the water twenty feet out from the boat.

"See those bubbles?" Jim pointed. "Those are a diver's shadow. We follow those to know where he's working and also we know as long as the bubbles keep coming, he's okay. The minute the bubbles stop, we know he's in trouble. Something has fouled his air line and he's had to close his outlet valve to keep what little air he has in his suit. When that happens, it means he has just eight minutes of life left."

The dark man started speaking in a transmitter.

"You can talk to the diver?" Landa's lifelong love of the sea and all things connected with it shone from her eyes.

Yes, he has a telephone head set in his suit and he keeps in constant touch with Fuzzy on the progress he is making. We'll be bringing him up in a few minutes now and Cass will go down. The boys can't work long in water this deep. Then, too, we have to bring them up slowly so they won't get the bends. He looked back at Cass Wilson. "How long's Jack been down?"

Wilson glanced at his watch before he answered. "Forty-three minutes."

Turning back to Landa Jim said, "It will take longer than that to bring him up. A diver doesn't dare rise any faster than those bubbles from his helmet."

FUZZY was speaking rapidly into the transmitter. Suddenly a broad grin broke over his face.

"He's located it—Jack's found the sub!" he cried excitedly. "He says it's only forty feet from the boat."

Jim glanced at his watch. "Tell him to kick off his shoe weights and get ready to come up. Cass will take over."

Fuzzy relayed the message and then turned back to Jim.

"He's mad as hell. Says he wants to stay down a while longer and look around."

"Tell him there's a beautiful gal aboard that wants to meet him. That'll bring him up," Jim laughed.

The sun was up now and beating down mercilessly on the small deck of the boat. A small square of brown canvas had been stretched to make an awning. Jim took Landa's arm and they started across the deck.

Cass Wilson was sitting on a coil of rope in the small square of shade and got to his feet as he saw Jim and Landa coming.

"Here, take the easy chair, Miss Morrison," he offered. "All the comforts of home—almost."

Landa sat down and Jim and Cass sat on the deck beside her.

"I'll bet it's beautiful on the bottom of the sea," Landa said turning to Cass.

"There's nothing like it," he said earnestly. "The colors in the vegetation look like something out of fairyland. I'm going to try something on this job if I get the time."

He shot a glance at Jim.

"Oh, yes, I forgot to tell you, Cass here is quite an artist in his spare time."

"Really? That's always been my hobby too!" Landa said enthusiastically.

"Well," Cass went on, "then you'll appreciate this even if my boss does think it's a waste of time. Before we left the States I bought a complete set of underwater painting equipment and I'm anxious to try it out."

"How about having the fun with a fellow artist?" Landa asked.

"Blair's the boss. Maybe if you can talk fast enough to him, we can make a little deal."

"We'll see about that," Jim said lightly. "Right now I think you better go below and get ready to dive. Another ten minutes and Jack will be up."

CHURCH REVIVALS

REVIVAL SERVICES AT NAZARENE

Dr. Howard W. Jerrett, Revival services have just begun in the Church of the Nazarene, with Dr. Howard W. Jerrett, of Detroit, Mich., as the evangelist. He will be bringing a number of messages on the subject of prophecy. Among them will be, "Christ's Second Coming—How Soon?" "Will America Collapse?" "The Russian Bear in Prophecy?"

Working with him, as song evangelist, is Mrs. Ruth Sanford, of East Liverpool, Ohio, a most beautiful Gospel soloist and director of congregational singing.

It will be a feast of good things for all who attend, and an excellent opportunity to acquaint one's self with some of the signs of the times.

Warren Artist Staging Show In Famous Bonestell Galleries

Warren friends of Miss Marion Sanford have received invitations to her sculpture exhibition being held in the Bonestell Gallery, 18 East 57th street, New York, from March 15 to 27. The hours are 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Miss Sanford, who won Guggenheim Fellowships in 1941 and 1942, is a member of the National Sculpture Society and the National Association of Women Artists.

Her "Diana" was awarded the Anna Hyatt Huntington Prize in 1937 and just recently her "De Profundis" won for her the Elizabeth N. Watrous gold medal award. Another work being shown is "Harvest," which has been acquired by the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts for its permanent collection.

In addition to her drawings, other pieces in the show are: Ploughwoman, Scrubwoman, Butterwoman, Vintage, Sweet Bye and Bye, Washerwoman, Little Lamb, Cornelia Chapin at Work, Drat That Cat, "Tiny," Drying Dishes, Tired Feet, Lady With the Lute, Georges Barrere, Carl Shipyard Worker, Spring, Bas Relief (Sally), Decorative Dinahs and Governor Bienville and Mother Tranchepain.

Brenda Putnam has written of Miss Sanford: "There is in her work a constant search for eternal values. She goes to the very core of her subject. She makes us realize the sterling dignity and beauty of women at their homely and age-old tasks. Sincerity is the keynote of all her sculpture."

Girls Dressing As Boys Like This War Time

The Military note, streamlining of fashions to conserve fabrics and an upsurge of color to give the new look, pretty well sum up the situation for the girl who is all wrapped up in her work for war! Tailored slacks sets in gabardine, faille and men's striped rayon suiting are quite the thing. Variations on the set-theme include such matching combinations as plain color or pin-check slacks worn with tailored jacket of the striped rayon suiting. These jackets are simple in form but enhanced with such features as velvet collar, contrasting stitching, leather button-nerre.

At the other fashion focal point are the dressier clothes: coats, suits, dresses which reflect the inevitable military spirit of the times.

The Chesterfield and the boxy style boy's coat are basic styles for the Junior's wardrobe. Feminine characteristics relieve the severity of the lines, as colors run to pretty pastels, such as ice blue, pink or fuchsia. In toppers, camel tan fleeces with bright red or green revers, checks, plaids and bright Shetlands appear with fly front, single or double-breasted. A military style, softly bloused and belted in back, in natural or pastel colored gabardine is well thought of.

Ledebur New Head Foreman Club Of City

Raymond J. Ledebur, representative of the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company and vice president of the Foreman's Club this past year, was elected president of that body at a meeting of the board of governors held last evening at the YMCA.

Other officers chosen for next year were: Fred Keller, of Struthers-Wells Corporation, vice president; W. S. Thayer, of the Warren State Hospital, secretary; Arnold Fischer, of the Sherwood Refining Company, treasurer.

These officers will be installed in a special ceremony in conjunction with the final meeting of the year on April 5. A discussion of plans for that evening concluded the evening.

Lt. McCune Spoke Before Medical Men

Twenty-seven members of the Warren County Medical Society met at Warren General Hospital Monday afternoon, when Lt. Commander Quay McCune was a most welcome guest.

Soon to be a senior medical officer on a plane carrier, his remarks on his experiences proved very interesting.

A technicolor film loaned by the U. S. Public Health Service was shown. It described in a realistic manner the diagnosis, symptoms and management of syphilis. Congratulations were extended to Dr. C. J. Frantz on having completed this month a period of 50 years of medical practice, all of which has been in Warren.

Hosts for the meeting were Doctors I. G. Hyer, R. H. Knapp, T. K. Larson, and K. Ridsperger and R. F. Otterbein.

Dress Types Now In News

The slim silhouette characterizes the fashions seen in the recent Spring openings. Pencil slim though they are, they are nevertheless becoming to all the because of their modifying touches, flounces and drapery as well as the new short jacket do much to alter the pillar like silhouette and make for grace and femininity.

Among the New York creations bound for success is the navy blue sheer. It is a favorite for that one, figure flattering dress that everyone likes to have. It lends itself to jewelry, accessories and whimsical little hats and is the perfect foil for hats gay with flowers.

A particular favorite in the two-piece navy sheer class has a short jacket accented by a three shiny buttons and a crisp white gilet. Sleeves are bracelet length making it possible to match the glittering buttons with bright wrist bands. Another two-piece sheer has a straight skirt and a lavender jacket, very short and with a one button closing. Cartridge-like tucking is used at the waist and shoulders. This also has a white gilet and looks extremely chic when worn with white gloves.

Low and High in Hat Fashion's Tide

YOU can have 'em low—and you can have 'em high, this spring—and both kinds of bonnets will be right in style, as evidenced by the pair of millinery fashion inspirations pictured above. The one at left is a charming double-decker of Sally blue felt, the crown being a little hat in itself, set on a back. Of course, if you want to go "high hat," you can have a topper like that at right, reminiscent of the Empire mode. Of navy blue felt, it's trimmed with an upside-down madonna blue velvet bow. The high, shell-shaped brim is attached to a little cap, making an effective adjunct to the chignon coiffure.

240 Volunteers Are Given Final Instructions

with parents of service men who are ill and of work Red Cross representatives are being given for men in the service who were over seas. He concluded his talk by telling of how wives of officers at Army Posts are among the most active workers for the Red Cross in all their spare hours.

Mr. Knapp then called upon Chester S. Allen of the executive committee. Mr. Allen first thanked the Chamber of Commerce for making the services of Mr. Kottcamp possible. He praised the work Mr. Kottcamp had done over the past six weeks, and congratulated the services of Mr. Kottcamp of the Red Cross for having secured the services of such an experienced campaign director. "And all this work that Mr. Kottcamp is doing and will do," he added, "is done without a penny of remuneration to Mr. Kottcamp personally."

Continuing, Mr. Allen pointed out that he would be disappointed indeed if the War Fund in Warren county does not reach the $40,000 mark. He compared Warren's quota of $32,000 with the $48,000 to be raised in the city of Bradford alone. He recalled that last year the quota for Warren was $20,000 when the national total was only $35,000,000, and concluded by saying that he had every hope that $40,000 could and would be raised in Warren county before the campaign closes.

A. F. Kottcamp, War Fund director, then addressed the workers and told them in an inspiring and pointed manner just what they must not do.

"This campaign," he said, "is one in which blood is flowing—some from your veins—to replace what blood some boy has lost in action." Mr. Kottcamp urged the workers to sit down at home and make their own contribution first, and to make it in the light of war time conditions, in which nearly every home finds some close connection with some young man in the service. "This is a campaign for $32,000, not just another Roll Call," he said in conclusion.

The last speaker was Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, who is in charge of all teams which will canvass residential districts. She asked her workers to acquaint themselves with the home at which they would call. She urged that no home be overlooked and pointed out that even if a husband, son or brother had made a contribution from his place of employment that the lady of the household might very well wish to make her own personal contribution.

In conclusion Mrs. Hamilton reminded all present of the first report meeting which will be held at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening of this week at 7:15. All team captains and members are reminded that it is imperative that they attend this meeting on Thursday, March 18th.

Truckers Working Hard For Increase in Size of Loads

Harrisburg, March 12—Urging "full loads for victory," the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association today launched a drive to break down the state's trade barrier hampering free movement of war materials.

A bill to permit trucks in Pennsylvania to carry loads for which they were designed was introduced in the legislature by Representatives Lloyd H. Wood, Montgomery Republican, and Felix S. Bentzel, York Democrat, with the endorsement of the truck association.

Pennsylvania's 20-year-old trade barrier restricts truck weights in this commonwealth far below those allowed in bordering states. The present weight restrictions prevent full efficiency of motor transport, cause unnecessary waste of transportation vitally needed for the war effort, frequently necessitating use of two trucks to do a job that could be done by one.

There is nothing in the measure to increase size or length or the maximum legal weight of trucks in Pennsylvania, which is 65,000 pounds. However, the bill is designed to obtain more efficient use of intermediate capacity vehicles now in service distributing war materials and commodities essential to community life.

Increased license fees, in keeping with the increased carrying capacities proposed by the bill would boost state revenue by $360,000.00 a year, PMTA estimated, on the basis of registrations as of February 1, 1943.

The following table shows how carrying capacities and license fees for various types of trucks would be increased by the bill:

Type of Truck	Present Allowable Gross Weight (In Pounds)	Gross Weight Proposed in Bill (In Pounds)	License Fee Now in Effect (Pneumatic Tires)	License Fee Proposed in Bill (Pneumatic Tires)
